
British Forces WMIK and Snatch Land Rover

View this kit on the website.

Land Rovers are used as protected transport vehicles by the British Army. Being light and maneuverable they make for ideal utility vehicles. Land Rover Wolf is the British Army's light armoured and patrol combat vehicle. Some 12,000 are in service in the British Army, but are now being phased out in Afghanistan due to the troops needing further protection from explosive devices.
